A description in 100-words

Daily life is full of stories and experiences that are stored in the energy field. We communicate with this energy, ask questions, listen for answers and add our own insights to create new knowledge. Subsequently, this is added to the Book of Life. This book allows us to share these insights with you. It is the truth as we see it; we invite you to match it with your truth. Consider and experience how the themes in this book relate to you, just you. Hence, you become aware how you ride the waves you create. See this book as the ocean, as the prerequisite.

How this book originated

Usually we like walking in nature whenever possible. Walking invites us to discuss all kinds of things. Things we notice inwardly that suddenly come to our attention. As such happens, we take a moment to give it the necessary attention. Sometimes we embrace a tree or sit outside on a bench. In this quietness it is easy to communicate with the Essence of humans, animals or a tree. It allows us to experience the truth behind the veil or beneath the surface and read the real story. Some of these stories are mentioned in "Karmic Reflections: Talking with Men and Nature".

These stories were told by the subject itself. They are the result of applied intuition we have learned after many years of intensive training. Intuition means Inner Higher Knowledge. This book is a sequel to "Freedom in Relationships: Have the Right Identification" and "Your Choice: Living Alive or Living Dead".

No more secrets or hidden truths as the Essence tells her own story. It is apart from the traditional and yet so simple in approach. These stories may act as a stimulant to learn to balance one's life. The conclusions after every story may act as a guide in daily life.

Whenever we want to communicate we always ask the Essence for allowance. This is a golden rule in non-sensory communication and allows us to offer support to the essence and balance them in order to proceed. Some of the stories can only be noticed by us as being an expert in that field. Other stories can be noticed by you as well when you use all your sensory organs consciously. Most stories however can only be revealed when talking to the Essence.

The last decades more often it is communicated that human is part of nature. It comes also to our attention that humans are capable of communicating with nature and nature with us. This form distinguishes from the sensory communication between humans as it is a communication with the energy present.

Many persons unconsciously have the same experiences. Others experience the same as they talk with essence. To others it is perhaps completely new as they have until now, not become familiar with this (old) concept. A concept that each of us can learn.

In nature this way of communication is easier than at home with the many distractions there. Furthermore nature offers a grounding, serendipity and inner awareness.

In the period 1999 - 2007 we have experienced many of the stories in this book and started to write them down.

Some of the stories are in this book as we want to share these insights with you. Some of the stories could have been written by you because of your personal experience, but you have not given it much thought. Thus it slipped your mind as something else needed your full attention. Other stories perhaps occurred to you personally. Perhaps you even reacted the same way as the person, tree or animal in the story. Other stories might be difficult to understand as a reality. Only when you have met individuals who have experienced these hard life lessons or when you have experienced them yourself, you can accept the reality of these stories. Some of the stories were even hard for us to read as before that time we were not able to face this reality or to see the far reaching consequences.

Despite the depth of these stories or their far reaching consequences, we thank all involved for revealing their personal life books to us. We wish these stories help you to understand that there is more to notice than you ever thought possible. Maybe you want to read more of such stories? Some new stories are already on paper but not yet ready for publication. Time will tell us when these stories can be published.

Facts

This book is about

The strong connection we have while walking in nature. This connection links us with animals, trees, plants, insects and not to forget with men. They reflect us whatever we need to know in order to continue. These encounters are our Karmic Reflections. Some of these karmic reflections have been mentioned in this book as we like to share them with you the reader. The reader who seeks answers to life questions.

What makes this book unique?

It is about the Essence of nature that is able to teach and explain us whatever we need to know. That is why we communicate with this energy, ask questions and listen to the answers. We experience the world with our eyes as part of our environment. It is our (fake) truth but may be complemented with the environment and truth from the energy world.

Several answers to questions

1. What personal life experiences inspired you to write this book?
The experiences when we communicate with the essence of other humans, animals and plants. Inward questions come forth and become answered. This led to these stories that we want to share with you as this inner knowledge has so much more to offer than book knowledge.
2. What message would you like readers to obtain from this book?

Each story has a clear theme. It are stories that confront each of us with daily experiences. We learn from these confrontations. We wish you the same.
4. What makes you an authority to write a book on these subjects?
As trained intuitive readers for years, we have read many life books (from Big Bang to ...) and developed a heightened intuitive state. The many studies, knowledge and skills allowed developing a metaphysical philosophical approach to life. The writers have in this and previous lives learned to handle the issues themselves.
5. The book is a non-fiction book, how did you researched for this book?
We have been communicating for years with the Essence of men, animal and plants. This is merged with the mental education we have received.
6. What challenges or experiences did you met in the writing process?
It was a challenge to write down the communication with the Essence of the subject in such a way that it reflects a sparkle of our inner Self.
7. How long did it take you to write the book?
In 1999 we started and at a certain moment we had enough stories to combine them to become a book.
8. Is there information on other books written by you?

We supported each other while debating with each other when walking in nature. Furthermore we become inspired by the teachings of others, animals and plants when we communicate with them.
10. What's your personal definition of good?
When the event or experience makes us aware and smiling inwardly.
11. What's your personal definition of bad?
When someone believes they can live without consideration and act destructive as they believe life ends after this lifetime or that they are excused because of a next lifetime. As we have been able to read life books of many persons we know that life is about continuing on the path of evolution. It can only be accomplished when we reconnect our essence and become aware of the choices we made or make.

"I read your stories Tumulus and Anatomical Laboratory with growing enthusiasm and feel attracted to your philosophy which is so much more real and original than what has been in ages. Lots of success with: Karmic Reflections."

Dick Bruna (Author and illustrator of Miffy Books)

"While children of the Western World cherish their iPod, their cell phones and their personal room, the authors of Karmic Reflections are searching for their Inner Child that still knows spontaneity, purity and intuitive wisdom." I wanted to express the contrast between the average Westernized children and their tendency to objects and your purity that one might describe to the inner child."

Yvonne Kroonenberg (Psychologist, columnist and author of books on man-woman issues)

"The book "Karmic Reflections" permeated me about the real knowledge of life on earth, flea or fly, horse or human, everything, one can only reach the essence of existence when he is entitled to his own specific individuality. That is what even I so often thwart for my own fake happiness. This book gave me the last necessary push: To overcome my keeping up appearances behavior. I start working on this today and I bet you do the same."

Helly and Martin Gaus (TV-host and dog psychologist / educationist and writer)

"Karmic Reflections tickles your senses and awakens your mind to watch, read, pay attention and be delighted!"

"The authors, well-versed and experienced Intuitives, are storytellers. They share tales of deep learning for all humanity as observers watching and recording the life and lessons of the characters in each story. This view leaves out the emotional drama of the stories and enables you to grasp the karmic lessons depicted in the character's personality patterns. You are intrigued by how the characters resolve their issues and gain awareness through life experiences as to live life to the fullest, or to bring closure to certain experiences or relationships. Other tales involve interactions with animals and you'll discover how the authors helped animals through their empathy and intuition. The author's intrigue your imagination and open your eyes to new possibilities that many human beings are living right now."
